Subscription will also include other benefits, such as access to game specific add-ons and extras - ranging from simple thematic soundtracks to full fledged expansions, player tools that players can use with any game like dice rollers, score counters and sound boards, and the ability to vote on upcoming features on the app.

As a launch offer valid until the end of the year, the annual deal will get a substantial $10 discount on the normal $30 subscription price. The offer is available at the Dized website at <https://dized.com/subscription/>

Record breaking year to the Dized service

Currently the most coveted content in Dized are the Interactive Tutorials that allow players to skip the rulebook and start playing board games right out of the box. Essentially they allow players to learn as they are playing. With tutorial releases to dozens of popular games, such as Terraforming Mars, Scythe, War of the Ring, 7 Wonders and Carcassonne, the audience has started to find the Dized service as their go-to way of learning new games.

“We are well over 200.000 unique users alone this year, and we expect to continue having an explosive growth going into 2023. We’re working with dozens of publishers on titles like Spirit Island, Tiny Epic titles, Joking Hazard and Splendor Duel, and they surely are titles that will be found on tens of thousands of gaming tables around the world - and we’re providing the best experience to learn these games”, states the CEO of Dized Jouni Jussila.

The Dized+ service is bringing even more value to the gamers. As the Tools that allow the creation of the tutorial have developed further, game add-ons are starting to appear in Dized besides the Rules and Tutorials.

“We are absolutely stoked about starting to see Dized becoming more than just a fantastic way of learning games, it’s becoming a way to have more entertaining game nights. The content that can now be built ranges from thematic soundtracks to constructing full-fledged game add-ons like extra adventures or character builders. Dized+ members will have access to all this extra content and other upcoming and exciting features. Launching the subscription give us a better ability to keep offering the uncompromised Dized experience in the future too.”
